AMERICAN TRUSS. JAQUITH'S PATENT.

THE superiority of this instrument over any thing of the kind ever offered to the public is fully proved by the testimony of the most experienced surgeons, and the repeated instances in which perfect cures have been effected. We know that safety and life are jeopardized by neglecting immediate attention; instance the frequent painful surgical operations in cases of Strangulated Hernia.
This instrument is new in theory, and produces the most happy practical results. Gentlemen and physicians who take an interest in improvements which tend to alleviate human suffering are respectfully invited to examine this instrument.
Recommendation from Dr. Hyde, Brattleboro', Vt. After several months' investigation, and having seen many cases under treatment with this and other instruments of the same kind, the undersigned unhesitatingly pronounces Jaquith's American Truss in his opinion superior in mechanical construction, retentive power, manner of giving pressure, and especially in ease to the wearer, to any instrument now before the public. The principle is a just one—founded on the principle of adhesive inflammation and the anatomy of the tissues implicated; and a still more cogent reason for this opinion is, that Hernia has been cured by the application of the instrument in repeated instances.
DANA HYDE, M. D.
Certificates and recommendations can be seen at the Agent's room. The best recommendation is an examination, together with a fair trial. Gentlemen who wish can have six days to prove the perfection of this instrument by wearing it. This offer is made with the belief that none will regret the trifling pecuniary consideration in securing an instrument of intrinsic value.
This Instrument can be had at the Apothecaries' Hall, and at the store of Dr. J. G. Beckwith, Litchfield, Conn.

MORSE'S Improved Patent ATHANOR COOKING STOVE.

THIS Stove having been recently so improved as to render it in many respects superior to any now in use, is, notwithstanding the announcing and forthcoming of an entire new article which was to supersede and finally root all Cooking Stoves, now offered to the public with the most perfect confidence.
This Stove has 4 Boilers, the washing Boiler being directly over the fire. There are cones in the inside, with dampers to confine the heat to each of the back boilers, thereby causing them to boil with much greater facility than in common stoves, and which are so constructed as to throw the whole or a part of the fire entirely around the oven at pleasure, which will readily be seen causes it to bake in the most perfect manner.
The extent of surface heated, and the manner of applying the heat, render this important part of the stove, in the opinion of all, superior to any in use. The front is so constructed that the fire may always be seen, which not only renders it very pleasant, but is useful in carrying away such bad air as may be collected in any confined room, where it may be in operation.
Sufficient is known respecting the Patent Athanor to prove itself beyond a doubt a worky of the first order, performing its work on a plan of the strictest economy, thereby suiting itself to all classes in community, as Economy and Convenience are alike the interest of all; and from the trial they have already had, and the success they have met with, the subscribers feel themselves justified in saying, they are not superseded by any thing in the United States.
The opinion of a few who have used the ATHANOR are here noticed:
Litchfield, August 25, 1837.
This certifies that within the last twelve years I have used a great variety of cooking stoves, and have found none equal to the patent Athanor. A greater amount of work, with less fuel, can be performed with it in a given time, than with any which I am acquainted. The oven is altogether superior to any I ever examined, and performs its work with entire satisfaction.
ALANSON ABBE.
Mr. MORSE—I have had cooking stoves of different descriptions, and have at length procured one of your patent Athanors, which I consider as altogether better than any I have used.
Respectfully your obedient servant,
JOHN ADAM.
Litchfield, (Ss. Farms,) September 12, 1837.
Messrs. MORSE & SON—This certifies that I have for more than a month past, used the stove which I purchased of you, and am prepared to say that I consider it far superior to any with which I have been acquainted. I find no difficulty in doing the cooking (including baking) and washing for a family of 35 or 40, which formerly I have had for the last month, and this with less than half the fuel formerly consumed. I feel a confidence in recommending the Athanor to all who wish to purchase a cooking stove—believing that all who purchase will find that all which can be said in their praise will fall far short of their merits.
SAMUEL M. ENSIGN.
Litchfield, September 11, 1837.
I have for many years past observed the various patterns of stoves invented by scientific men, and made trial of the improvements of many; but have never found any thing to compare with Morse's Improved Athanor. Having made a thorough trial of it, I find it the most perfect article I have ever seen. The heat of the oven is rendered equal in every part, so that baking can be done without turning in every respect as well as in a brick oven. The heating the oven detracts nothing from the boilers, and is so constructed as to bring the fire in contact with any or all the boilers, causing them to boil quicker at every point than any stove I have ever seen. In construction and adaptation renders it all that can be desired in a cooking stove.
GARWOOD SANFORD.
Stove dealers and all others are invited to call and examine for themselves before purchasing elsewhere. Also on hand, Dr. Buel's Cooking Stoves, and a variety of other patterns, which are offered to the public on reasonable terms.
All kinds of Tin, Brass, Copper, and Sheet-Iron work done to order, 10 rods west of the County House.
